Dear Participants,

It is with much gratitude that I write this. The support of Home Depot over the last 14 years has led to groundbreaking research and patient programs that are now across the world. Words cannot convey how thankful we are for these much needed funds.

Last year we were able to donate $100,000 for seed funding for a vaccine for DCIS breast cancer at UPMC/Pitt and Magee Womens Hospital. The trial is now open and the first patient has been fully vaccinated. Your support at this event has allowed this innovative research.

Over the past year, A Glimmer of Hope has also continued to support the Glimmer of Hope Metastatic Breast Cancer Center at Allegheny Health Network. We donated $25,000 for integrated oncology services along with $90,000 for a metastatic breast cancer trial. The funds raised at this year's Clays for the Cure will be supporting mental health programs at the metastatic center along with integrated oncology programs at both systems. It has truly been a tremendous year for research!

Throughout the Pittsburgh region, A Glimmer of Hope supports causes and initiatives that impact young women with breast cancer, as well as their family members, friends, the greater medical community and the general public.

I am passionate about ensuring that your financial support makes tangible progress to help women with breast cancer. We are so very grateful all our supporters. Like many of you, I have lost those close to me to this disease. With your support, we are able to work for better treatments, care and most importantly hope for these women.

Brace yourselves for change—A Glimmer of Hope is fighting to make a future that will be breast cancer free.

Sincerely,

Diana Napper, Founder
A Glimmer of Hope
